AirNet Implements AOG Desk to Provide Time-Critical Shipping and Support to AOG Industry

COLUMBUS, Ohio – May 29, 2009 – In a move that signifies AirNet’s commitment to the AOG industry, the company has announced the development and implementation of a dedicated AOG desk in its customer resource center. The AOG desk, staffed 24/7/365 by a group of dedicated transportation and logistics professionals, serves as the main contact center for AirNet’s growing AOG customer base.

Frank DiMaria, AirNet’s Senior Vice President of Sales and Marketing, said, “Serving the AOG market is a natural fit for us. As an asset-based airline, we have been the logistics backbone of our own aircraft maintenance department for over 30 years. More than any other provider of time-critical transportation, we understand the specific needs of the AOG market and the importance of delivering aircraft parts on demand and on time.”

The dedicated AOG desk allows AirNet to provide a specialized and customized mission-critical transportation solution to AOG customers. Customers will have access to flexible time-critical shipping options, including AirNet’s national air network, the commercial airlines, cargo charter, and expedited ground transportation.

AirNet owns and operates over 170 of its own aircraft based in 40 cities throughout the US, providing service to over 2,550 markets nightly. In addition to its own fleet, AirNet partners with over 1,000 logistics companies, forwarders, and commercial airlines to provide a complete suite of mission-critical transportation options to its customers.
